🟢 Week 5 Story: The Mountain That Waited – Respecting Parents in Islam

📖 Story:

Once, during the time of the Prophet Muhammad ﷺ, a man named Uwais al-Qarni lived far away in Yemen. He wasn't rich. He didn't wear fancy clothes. He never got the chance to meet the Prophet ﷺ in person.

But do you know what made him special?

He had so much love for his mother... that even the angels spoke about him!

👵 The Sick Mother and a Son Who Stayed

Uwais's mother was very old and couldn't walk. She was weak and needed help all the time. Uwais looked after her day and night. He would cook for her, clean the house, bring water, and help her with everything.

One day, he said to his mother:

> "O my dear mother, I've heard about a man in Madinah — Muhammad ﷺ — who has been sent by Allah as a Prophet. I want to go and see him. I want to take shahadah from his blessed lips and learn from him directly."

His mother looked at him with love and said:

> "O Uwais, I am sick and cannot be left alone. But if you must go, promise me one thing — go only for a short time, meet the Prophet ﷺ, and come back quickly."

Uwais promised.

🛣️ The Journey That Stopped at the Door

He travelled all the way from Yemen to Madinah — through desert and mountains — just to meet the Prophet ﷺ.

When he finally arrived at the house of the Prophet ﷺ, he knocked gently...

But the Prophet ﷺ wasn't there. He was away on a journey.

Now Uwais had a choice:

- Wait for the Prophet ﷺ to return.
- Or keep his promise to his mother and go back.

He stood there for a moment... then he turned away and went back home, without meeting the Prophet ﷺ — just because he had made a promise to his mother.

🌟 What Did the Prophet ﷺ Say?

Later, the Prophet ﷺ returned to Madinah and was told about the visitor who came and left.

The Prophet ﷺ smiled and said:

> "I smell the fragrance of Uwais coming from Yemen." — (Sahih Muslim)

He told his companions:

> "There will come to you a man from Yemen, his name is Uwais. He never met me, but he has served his mother with such devotion that Allah loves him. If you ever meet him, ask him to make du'a for you."

Imagine that!

A man who never met the Prophet ﷺ... yet was so loved by Allah because of how he respected his mother.

Even Sayyiduna Umar ibn Khattab and Ali ibn Abi Talib were later told by the Prophet ﷺ: "If you meet Uwais, ask him to make du'a for you."

💡 Lesson for Us:

Respecting parents is one of the greatest deeds in Islam.

Sometimes, doing something for your parents is more valuable than even going on a journey of worship.

Allah listens to the du'a of obedient children.

Boys and girls should never shout at or ignore their parents — Paradise lies beneath the feet of the mother.

🗣️ Ask the children:

1. Why did Uwais leave without meeting the Prophet ﷺ?

2. What did the Prophet ﷺ say about him?

3. What can we do to respect and help our parents every day?
